

8 September (Our day in Cockington)

Just like the past days school started at 8:45 am. Today's task in school was to prepare a presentation about our school and make a little poster about it. In the first two periods we split into four groups and everyone had a few topics to prepare. In the third and last period each group had to present the poster. After that we had a lunchbreak and our teachers gave us some information about the next day.

Our plan in the afternoon was a trip to the town Cockington. We went there by our bus and as we arrived we headed through the rain to a little café. There we had delightful scones and cream tea. After we finished eating, we had some free time in Cockington. Some of us went to the church, others were just in its nice park.

Later we headed back to Torquay. At first, we walked through a forest and then along the coast. After one hour of walking through the rain we finally arrived in Torquay and there we had some spare time until our bus with our favourite bus driver Thomas arrived. He dropped us off at the different bus stops. Then everyone got back to their host family.

What we liked best about our trip today was our free time in Cockington because it gave us a chance to explore the breath-taking town. In conclusion, it was a really nice day but the weather could have been better.

Just after the bus had dropped us off, we heard about the death of the Queen...
