

DAY 4

Fish & chips/walk at Babbacombe Beach

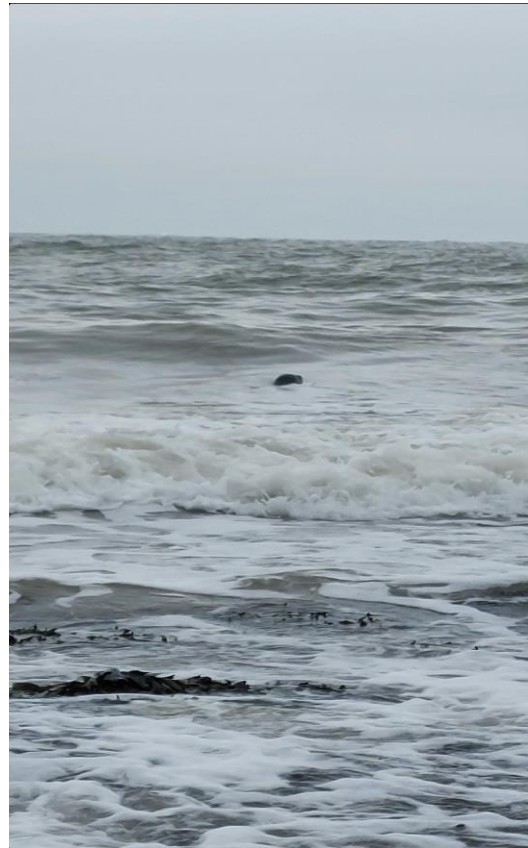

When we got on the bus at half past twelve, we didn't know what was to come. Getting closer and closer we were really excited. We got off the bus and Mr Hauk took a shortcut" that wasn't really a shortcut. We arrived at Hanbury's, Britain's most famous fish and chips restaurant and were surprised what it looked like. When we saw one of the teachers that got a bag full of food we suddenly became very hungry. Everyone got a box of fish & chips because we were queuing. We took the box with excitement in our eyes. When we opened it, looked very very delicious. We immediately started devouring the fish & chips. We put one big chunk of fish in our mouths and the flavour exploded on our tongue. In about 10 minutes it was all gone, but it really tasted good though.

As we finished the food we got to see the Babbacombe Beach near Hanbury's. The way down was a very adventurous path with a lot of exotic flowers and trees and many rocks. We were bit disappointed when we got to the beach because it was all rocky, but both the way down and up were brilliant because there were so many flowers and plants.
