

England trip 2025 - Day 4 - May 15th

Fish, chips and a dip in the sea

Today we probably had the best weather of the trip so far. In the morning, we obviously had to go to the language school, but it was really chill. We played a short game at the beginning, which was quite fun. One group had to do some worksheets and prepare a short story, while the other group played Kahoot and created a presentation about animals.

For lunch, we went to the famous fish and chips shop Hanbury's. I normally despise fish, but it tasted amazing. It may have changed my mind.

After that we went down to Oddicombe beach. Since the sun was out and gave each of us sunburn we were allowed to go swimming in the ocean, but not too far out. After that we walked over to Babbacombe beach. We even saw a few crabs!

Even if we didn't have the bus today, we'd say that we had a great time.
