

England trip 2025 - Day 5 - May 16th

Looking for Silky... Plymouth is real after all!

At first, we went to school. We dealt with the topic of technology and prepared a presentation about a new phone one hundred years from now. That was really cool and funny! For example, there was a cucumber phone or a Minecraft iPhone with cool designs.

After school, we drove to Plymouth, which we know from our textbooks. We first headed to the National Marine Aquarium to see sharks, jellyfish, rays, urchins, puffer fish and other cool underwater animals, including Nemo & Dorie!

After the aquarium we went to the Hoe. There we got very cool photo tasks to explore the city with. Silky the seal (of textbook fame) was nowhere to be found, but we had an awesome and exciting day all the same!
