

DAY 7

Our trip to Roman baths

At 8:30 am we started our journey to Bath, which took us ca. 3 hours. When we arrived we walked from the coach to the Roman baths. While walking we saw a bit of Bath - a very beautiful city! After we had walked to the Roman baths we had to wait for 15 minutes till we could enter. When we could finally go in we got an audio guide and then we were allowed to explore the Roman baths on our own. First you come to the terrace, which gives you an overview of the great baths. Victorian statues of Roman emperors and governors of Britain are lined up there. The statues on the terrace date back to 1894, when they were carved for the grand opening of the Roman Baths in 1897. When we then descended the stairs from the terrace we could see a very impressive museum, where there are very many artifacts!

When you leave the museum you directly come to the main bath. To be honest it is quite unpleasant today because it contains sulfur. However, it is still very impressive.
